

On April 11, 2007, Applicant filed an application seeking commission approval to extend its authority under Permit No. 4608-P to include (1) the transportation of specific commodities (petroleum and petroleum products) over irregular routes on the island of Maui pursuant to a contract with Chevron, and (2) the authority to transport specific commodities (petroleum and petroleum products) over irregular routes on the island of Maui as a contract carrier for other clients in the future, provided that Applicant files executed contracts for such services with the commission prior to the commencement of such services.

Applicant served copies of the application on the Hawaii Transportation Association, which consists of carriers that may be affected by Applicant's proposed service, and on the Division of Consumer Advocacy, Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs ("Consumer Advocate"). The Consumer Advocate did not participate in this proceeding, and no persons moved to intervene in this docket.

Findings and Conclusions

Based upon our review of the record, we find that Applicant is fit, willing, and able to properly perform the proposed service, and to conform to Hawaii Revised Statutes chapter 271, and the requirements and rules of the commission. We also find that the proposed service will meet the distinct needs of Chevron, and, pursuant to HRS § 271-13, will be consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in HRS chapter 271. Accordingly, we conclude that Applicant's request for an extension of its contract carrier authority should be granted.

In addition, we find that Applicant should be allowed to provide contract carrier services for other clients in the future without having to file additional applications with the commission, provided that (1) such services are limited to the transportation of specific commodities (petroleum and petroleum products) on the island of Maui, and (2) Applicant files executed contracts for such services with the commission prior to the commencement of such services.
