GENERAL INFORMATION ON CONDOMINIUMS

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of Hawaii's "Horizontal Property Act" (Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes) must be followed.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

Common elements are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called limited common elements and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged, or encumbered, and they may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the land, building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owner/tenant) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements. The leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without a vote of the owners. Some of these actions may significantly impact the quality of life for all apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is vitally important to all apartment owners that the transition from developer to owner control be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

BUILDING RULES

PALI NAMAHAAMA ACRES

The purpose of these Building Rules is to protect all owners and occupants from annoyance and nuisance caused by improper conduct and improper use of the PALI NAMAHAAMA ACRES Condominium, hereinafter referred to as "Project", and to provide for the maximum enjoyment of the premises. All owners and occupants, their agents, employees and invitees shall be bound by these Building Rules and standards of reasonable conduct whether covered by these Building Rules or not.

1. Definitions. As used herein:

a. The "Area" refers to the land set aside for the use of each Unit Owner.

b. The Unit refers to the farm storage unit and the land designated as a limited common element for the Unit Owner.

2. Building Permit. Any owner desiring to construct a single family farm dwelling in a unit will have to comply with the building and zoning code as the same may be changed from time to time. The present requirement is that each owner must sign an affidavit that he can obtain income or sustenance from farming on the property (Unit) and the Area must be a minimum of five acres.

3. Water and Utilities. The water, electricity and telephone will be drawn from the end of Kauapea Road to each Unit boundary abutting the roadway common element and each Unit Owner will have to then hook up at his own cost and expense the utilities to the dwelling and/or building.

4. Cesspools. There are no sewer lines and a sanitary sewer system. Each Unit Owner will have to have his own cesspool to be located within his own Area.

5. Roadway. The roadway is initially paved by the Developer. Each Unit Owner will keep a minimum of a ten feet setback area clear of all vegetation in order that the Association can keep the roadway area clear of any vegetation and growth.

6. Farming. A Unit Owner to farm his own area and/or plant any orchards and/or any other farming activity shall use materials and/or equipment that are maintained and repaired and will not allow any unused and/or junk material and/or vehicles to be stored and kept in the Area. In the construction of the farm dwelling and/or any other accessory building the Unit Owner shall not use second-hand materials, quonset huts and/or any other materials that would create a nuisance in the Unit Owner's property.

7. View Plane. Any trees that are located in the common area of the project which cuts off the view plane of a Unit Owner to the ocean may at the expense of Unit Owner affected be cut and removed. Each Unit Owner in the construction of his farm dwelling is to locate his dwelling and landscaping so as not to affect the view plane of other Unit Owners.

8. Animals. The raising and keeping of any animals shall meet the requirements of the Department of Health and shall be properly fenced and the location of animals shall take into consideration any animal odors that affects the neighboring Unit Owners. Piggeries, apiaries, pen feeding of livestock, fish and poultry hatcheries are not permitted uses in the Units, the Common Elements and the Common Area Land.

9. Common Area Land. The Common Area land for any farming, raising of animals, landscaping and/or any other use may be decided upon by the Association from time to time including the hiring, leasing and/or any other arrangements to maintain the Area.

10. Common Element Expenses and Enforcement. The Association shall provide for such common expenses that will maintain and upkeep the Project and for the failure of any Unit Owner to observe these Building Rules the Association shall have the power to enforce these Rules including the assessment of the common expenses and the filing of a lien against the Unit.

Namahana Acres - Registration No. 1796 (TMK: 5-2-05: 23)
Kilauea, Kauai

Thank you for your letter of September 24, 1986, relative to the subject matter. We appreciate your cooperation on what we consider a controversial means of land ownership in terms of our County's zoning and subdivision regulations for the Agricultural Districts on Kauai. We feel that this method of land ownership is totally contrary to the intent of sound agricultural preservation and conservation practices that our Legislature, County Council and Planning Commission have continually advocated.

Condominiumizing agricultural lands is purely a marketing scheme which increases the salability of a parcel of land; and worst, greatly inflates the cost of agricultural lands. It will do nothing to enhance the viability of agriculture.

The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance for the County of Kauai allows a one-time subdivision of agricultural properties. No further subdivision of any of the parcels thus created is allowed unless the parcel or parcels are reclassified into the State Land Use Urban District (Sec. 8-7.4, Revised Code of Ordinances attached).

The definition of "subdivision" pursuant to subsection 8-1.5, of the Revised Code of Ordinance (attached) states in part, "...when appropriate to the context shall relate to the process of dividing land for any purpose..." We are of the opinion that the division of the ownership, therefore, constitutes a further subdivision, even if a particular parcel is not physically divided--the intent is a further fragmentation of the once subdivided property. We believe this action circumvents the County's zoning ordinance by allowing further "subdivision" of agricultural lands.

Exhibit "H"

Real Estate Commission

If an existing agricultural lot were to be condominiumized, such action would jeopardize any future subdivision. Furthermore, there is a maximum of five farm dwellings that are allowed on agricultural parcel provided the parcel is large enough to qualify. If, under the condominium concept, ownership was split more than five ways, what happens after the first five units are built?

Another problem that these agricultural condominium owners will encounter if dwelling units are not constructed is the ownership requirement at the time a building permit application is made. Ordinance No. 317 (attached) defines what an owner is. Based on this definition, a condominium owner must obtain the authorization from at least 75% of the "owners" within the parcel. If such authorization cannot be obtained, we will not issue a zoning or building permit for any construction or activity.

When the HPR legislation was first adopted, it was necessary to accommodate the sale of individual units in highrise buildings, townhouses or cluster developments. It was a innovative way to accommodate financing and to secure ownership of a unit on a pieces of property that contains several units. We do not believe that the law was created and adopted so that it could apply to the "division" of agriculture lands also. Had it been known at that time that this situation would occur, then we believe that our legislators would have inserted clauses to prevent the HPR of agricultural lands. Please be informed that the County of Kauai has just developed a draft ordinance to prevent the application of HPR to agricultural lands. Because of the renewed interest we've been experiencing here, we will be pursuing adoption of this ordinance in the near future.

We are very concerned and apprehensive about the registration of agricultural properties pursuant to the Horizontal Property Regime Act for the foregoing reasons. We notified your office several years ago that this Department would like to be a party to or review agency of any application that came in to HPR agricultural lands on Kauai. If possible, we would appreciate receiving advance notice of any future registrations, and further hope that all such applications, including those pending, are denied. Your cooperation on this matter would be greatly appreciated.
