GENERAL INFORMATION ON CONDOMINIUMS

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of Hawaii's "Horizontal Property Act" (Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes) must be followed.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

Common elements are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called limited common elements and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged, or encumbered, and they may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the land, building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owner/tenant) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements. The leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without a vote of the owners. Some of these actions may significantly impact the quality of life for all apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is vitally important to all apartment owners that the transition from developer to owner control be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES FROM EARLIER PUBLIC REPORTS

There has been added an additional Dwelling, known as Unit B. The Project, therefore, now consists of two (2) Units (interchangeably called "Dwelling" or "Unit"). The Dwellings are identified on the Condominium Map as "Unit A" and "Unit B". Dwelling A and Dwelling B each has the right to use the yard area designated as "Dwelling Lot A" and "Dwelling Lot B", respectively and other areas, described below as Limited Common Elements. The principal changes from the earlier Final Public Report area as follows:

1. DESCRIPTION OF UNITS AND ADJACENT AREAS.

1.1 Units. Unit A is a single family residential building together with a carport containing two regular-size parking stalls. It is constructed principally of wood on a concrete slab foundation. The roof of Unit A is of pitch and gravel. Unit A is one story in height.

Unit B is also a single one story family residential building. It is constructed principally of wood on a concrete slab foundation. The roof is covered by shingles.

1.2 Unit Location. Unit A fronts on Ilimano Street. Unit B is situated behind Unit A. The exact locations are as shown on the site map which is a part of the Condominium Map.

1.3 Description of Units. Two (2) freehold estates (Unit A and Unit B) are hereby designated in the spaces enclosed by and within the outside surfaces of the exterior walls and roof and the bottom surfaces of the footing and foundations of each Unit.

Note: The net living area of each Unit is not calculated by this perimeter; rather such is calculated according to the interior surfaces of the walls and doors.

Unit A is a single family residence built in 1961 and contains eight rooms, including three bedrooms, living-room, dining-room, family room, kitchen and two baths. Unit A has a net living area of approximately 1,430 square feet and a carport of approximately 444 square feet.

Unit B is a single one story family residence containing six rooms including two bedrooms, a living-room, a kitchen and two baths. Unit B has a net living area of approximately 691 square feet and a deck of approximately 629 square feet.

Unit A and Unit B contain carpeting (except in bathrooms and kitchen). Unit A also contains a range, refrigerator, washer, dryer, disposal, solar system and TV cable. Unit B also contains a range and an oven.

1.4 Parking. The Project has two (2) covered regular size parking stalls within the carport of Unit A and which are for the exclusive use of Unit A. Unit B has the exclusive use of two uncovered parking stalls within the area designated on the Condominium Map as "Access Driveway Lot B".

2. COMMON ELEMENTS.

One freehold estate is hereby also designated in all the remaining portions of the Project, herein called "common elements", including specifically but not limited to:

2.1 Said land in fee simple;

2.2 All grounds and landscaping not otherwise designated limited common elements;

2.3 That portion of the Land designated on the Condominium Map as "Common Element Planter";

2.4 All roadways and access areas;

2.5 All other portions of the Land and improvements not specifically heretofore designated as Units, but which are intended for common use and all other devices and installations existing for or rationally of common use or necessary to the existence, upkeep and safety of the Condominium Property Regime.

3. LIMITED COMMON ELEMENTS.

3.1 Certain parts of the common elements, herein called the "Limited Common Elements", are hereby designated and set aside for the exclusive use of each Dwelling, and each Dwelling shall have appurtenant thereto exclusive easements for the use of such limited common elements. Unless otherwise specified, all costs of every kind pertaining to each limited common element, including, but not limited to, costs of landscaping, maintenance, repair, replacement and improvement, shall be borne immediately by the Dwelling to which it is appurtenant.

The limited common elements so set aside and reserved are as follows:

(a) The site of each Unit, called herewith a "Lot", consisting of the land beneath and immediately adjacent to each Unit, as shown and delineated as "limited exclusive common area" on said Condominium Map (and having the same letter designation as the Dwelling to which it is appurtenant).

4. PERCENTAGE OF UNDIVIDED INTEREST IN THE COMMON INTERESTS.

4.1 Each Dwelling shall have appurtenant thereto an undivided fifty percent (50%) interest in all common elements of the Project (herein called the "common interest"), and the same proportionate share in all common profits and expenses of the Project and for all other purposes, including voting on all matters requiring action by the Dwelling Lot owners.

5. ALTERATION AND TRANSFER OF INTERESTS.

The undivided percentage interest in the common elements, appurtenant to each Dwelling shall have a permanent character, shall not be altered without the consent of all of the Dwelling Owners affected expressed in an amendment to this Declaration duly recorded, shall not be separated from the Dwelling to which they appertain, and shall be deemed to be conveyed, leased or encumbered with such Dwelling even though such undivided percentage, limited common elements or other easements are not expressly mentioned or described in the conveyance or other instrument. The common elements shall remain undivided, and no right shall exist to partition or divide any portion thereof except as provided in the Act and as otherwise expressly provided herein."

Each Dwelling Owner shall hereafter have a Power of Attorney from all the other Dwelling owners to execute such amendment to the Declaration or to make applications as aforesaid. This Power of Attorney shall be deemed coupled with each Owner's interest in his Dwelling (including his common interest) and shall be irrevocable.
