GENERAL INFORMATION ON CONDOMINIUMS

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of Hawaii's "Condominium Property Act" (Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes) must be followed.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owner/tenant) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements. The leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

Common elements are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called limited common elements and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged, or encumbered, and they may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without a vote of the owners. Some of these actions may significantly impact the quality of life for all apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is vitally important to all apartment owners that the transition from developer to owner control be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

Subject: Comments on 2419 Liliuokalani Street Condominium Report
Tax Map Key:5-2-20:82
Kilauea, Kauai

After reviewing the subject document, we have the following comments to offer:

The amount of limited common elements corresponds to the allowable unit density permitted by the CZO. The subject property is zoned Residential (R-6) and qualifies for two(2) units.

When applying for Zoning Permits with the Planning Department, the owners must be made aware that 75% of the owners or their assignee, are required to sign the permit form(s). Should an assignee be designated, such assignee shall present proof of authorization from the 75% of the owners at the time a permit is applied for. This is a requirement because the Planning Department does not recognize the Condominium Report to be a legal subdivision of land.

There should be a disclosure provision written into this and all ensuing condominium reports stating that approval of the report should not be misconstrued to mean that all County Codes and Ordinances have been complied with. Subsequent development and use shall comply with all applicable County Codes and Ordinances. It should also be made clear that the Condominium Property Regime (CPR) does not necessarily mean that all County requirements pertaining to subdivision of lands have been met. Therefore, such facilities/improvements that are normally associated with County-approved subdivisions such as fire protection devices, County street lighting, electricity, upgraded water facilities, improved access for owner and emergency traffic, drainage facilities, etc., may not necessarily be provided for. Further, such services as County street maintenance and trash collection will not be available for interior road/driveways.
