General Information On Condominiums

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of the Condominium Property Act, Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must be complied with. In addition, certain requirements and approvals of the County in which the project is located must be satisfied and obtained.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owners/tenants) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements at the lessee's expense. Leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

"Common elements" are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called "limited common elements" and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged or encumbered, and may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the project's Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without the vote of the owners. For example, the board may hire and fire employees, increase or decrease maintenance fees, borrow money for repair and improvements and set a budget. Some of these actions may significantly impact the apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers or apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is important to all apartment owners that the transition of control from the developer to the apartment owners be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

II. CREATION OF THE CONDOMINIUM; CONDOMINIUM DOCUMENTS

A condominium is created by recording in the Bureau of Conveyances and/or filing with the Land Court a Declaration of Condominium Property Regime, a Condominium Map (File Plan), and the Bylaws of the Association of Apartment Owners. The Condominium Property Act (Chapter 514A, HRS), the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules control the rights and obligations of the apartment owners with respect to the project and the common elements, to each other, and to their respective apartments. The provisions of these documents are intended to be, and in most cases are enforceable in a court of law.

A. Declaration of Condominium Property Regime contains a description of the land, buildings, apartments, common elements, limited common elements, common interests, and other information relating to the condominium project.

The Declaration for this condominium is:

The Bylaws for this condominium are:

The Bylaws referred to above have been amended by the following instruments [state name of document, dated and recording/filing information]:

D. House Rules. The Board of Directors may adopt House Rules to govern the use and operation of the common elements and limited common elements. House Rules may cover matters such as parking regulations, hours of operation for common facilities such as recreation areas, use of lanais and requirements for keeping pets. These rules must be followed by owners, tenants, and guests. They do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective. The initial House Rules are usually adopted by the developer.

The House Rules for this condominium are:

[ ] Proposed [X] Adopted [ ] Developer does not plan to adopt House Rules

E. Changes to Condominium Documents.

Changes to the Declaration, Condominium Map, and Bylaws are effective only if they are duly adopted and recorded and/or filed. Changes to House Rules do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON LEASEHOLD CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

The information contained in this report is a summary of the terms of the lease. For more detailed information, you should secure a copy of the lease documents and read them thoroughly.

If you have any legal questions about leasehold property, the lease documents or the terms of the lease and the consequences of becoming a lessee, you should seek the advice of an attorney.

There are currently no statutory provisions for the mandatory conversion of leasehold condominiums and there are no assurances that such measures will be enacted in the future.

In leasehold condominium projects, the buyer of an apartment will acquire the right to occupy and use the apartment for the time stated in the lease agreement. The buyer will not acquire outright or absolute fee simple ownership of the land. The land is owned by the lessor or the leased fee owner. The apartment owner or lessee must make lease rent payments and comply with the terms of the lease or be subject to the lessor's enforcement actions. The lease rent payments are usually fixed at specific amounts for fixed periods of time, and are then subject to renegotiation. Renegotiation may be based on a formula, by arbitration set in the lease agreement, by law or by agreement between the lessor and lessee. The renegotiated lease rents may increase significantly. At the end of the lease, the apartment owners may have to surrender the apartments, the improvements and the land back to the lessor without any compensation (surrender clause).

When leasehold property is sold, title is normally conveyed by means of an assignment of lease, the purpose of which is similar to that of a deed. The legal and practical effect is different because the assignment conveys only the rights and obligations created by the lease, not the property itself.

The developer of this condominium project may have entered into a master ground lease with the fee simple owner of the land in order to develop the project. The developer may have then entered into a sublease or a new lease of the land with the lessee (apartment owner). The developer may lease the improvements to the apartment owner by way of an apartment lease or sublease, or sell the improvements to the apartment owners by way of a condominium conveyance or apartment deed.

	Conforming	Non-Conforming	Illegal
Uses	X
Structures	X
Lot	X

If a variance has been granted or if uses, improvements or lot are either non-conforming or illegal, buyer should consult with county zoning authorities as to possible limitations which may apply.

Limitations may include restrictions on extending, enlarging, or continuing the non-conformity, and restrictions on altering and repairing structures. In some cases, a non-conforming structure that is destroyed or damaged cannot be reconstructed.

The buyer may not be able to obtain financing or insurance if the condominium project has a non-conforming or illegal use, structure, or lot.

D. Common Elements, Limited Common Elements, Common Interest:

1. Common Elements: Common Elements are those parts of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. Although the common elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners, those portions of the common elements which are designated as limited common elements (see paragraph 2 below) may be used only by those apartments to which they are assigned. The common elements for this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

[X] described in Exhibit A.

Unit No.	Limited Common Area (s.f.)
1	5,034
2	5,151

3. Common Interest: Each apartment will have an undivided fractional interest in all of the common elements. This interest is called the "common interest." It is used to determine each apartment's share of the maintenance fees and other common profits and expenses of the condominium project. It may also be used for other purposes, including voting on matters requiring action by apartment owners. The common interests for the apartments in this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

[ ] described in Exhibit _____.

[X] as follows:

Unit No.	Common Interest Percentage
1	50%
2	50%

E. Encumbrances Against Title: An encumbrance is a claim against or a liability on the property or a document affecting the title or use of the property. Encumbrances may have an adverse effect on the property or your purchase and ownership of an apartment in the project.

Exhibit B describes the encumbrances against the title contained in the title report dated June 14, 1995 and issued by First American Title Insurance Company.

Blanket Liens:

A blanket lien is an encumbrance (such as a mortgage) on the entire condominium project that secures some type of monetary debt (such as a loan) or other obligation. A blanket lien is usually released on an apartment-by-apartment basis upon payment of specified sums so that individual apartments can be conveyed to buyers free and clear of the lien.

[ ] There are no blanket liens affecting title to the individual apartments.

[X] There are blanket liens which may affect title to the individual apartments.

Blanket liens (except for improvement district or utility assessments) must be released before the developer conveys the apartment to a buyer. The buyer's interest will be affected if the developer defaults and the lien is foreclosed prior to conveying the apartment to buyer.

Type of Lien	Effect on Buyer's Interest and Deposit if Developer Defaults or Lien is Foreclosed Prior to Conveyance
Mortgage	Contracts to purchase units may be cancelled in which event deposits will be refunded to the buyers, less an escrow cancellation fee.

F. Construction Warranties:

Warranties for individual apartments and the common elements, including the beginning and ending dates for each warranty, are as follows:

1. Building and Other Improvements: One-year contractor's warranty from date of completion on Unit 2. There are no warranties on Unit 1.

2. Appliances: Warranty provided by the appliance manufacturer for Unit 2. There are no warranties on the appliances in Unit 1.

G. Status of Construction and Estimated Completion Date:

Unit 1 was constructed in 1955. Unit 2 was completed in April 1995.

H. Project Phases:

The developer [ ] has [X] has not reserved the right to add to, merge, or phase this condominium.

Summary of Developer's plans or right to perform for future development (such as additions, mergers or phasing):

IV. CONDOMINIUM MANAGEMENT

A. Management of the Common Elements: The Association of Apartment Owners is responsible for the management of the common elements and the overall operation of the condominium project. The Association may be permitted, and in some cases may be required, to employ or retain a condominium managing agent to assist the Association in managing the condominium project.

Initial Condominium Managing Agent: When the developer or the developer's affiliate is the initial condominium managing agent, the management contract must have a term of one year or less and the parties must be able to terminate the contract on notice of 60 days or less.

The initial condominium managing agent for this project, named on page five (5) of this report, is:

[ ] not affiliated with the Developer

B. Estimate of Initial Maintenance Fees:

The Association will make assessments against your apartment to provide funds for the operation and maintenance of the condominium project. If you are delinquent in paying the assessments, your apartment may be liened and sold through a foreclosure proceeding.

Initial maintenance fees are difficult to estimate and tend to increase as the condominium ages. Maintenance fees may vary depending on the services provided.

Exhibit _____ contains a schedule of estimated initial maintenance fees and maintenance fee disbursements (subject to change).

*All the common elements are limited common elements appurtenant to either Unit 1 or Unit 2.

C. Utility Charges for Apartments:

Dear Mr. Lee:

Subject: Condominium Conversion Project

Tax Map Key: 4-5-036: 017

This is in response to your letter dated February 6, 1995 requesting verification that the dwellings located at the above-mentioned address met all applicable code requirements at the time of construction.

Investigation revealed that the front one-story single-family dwelling with two off-street parking spaces met all applicable code requirements when it was constructed in 1955. The rear one-story single-family dwelling with two off-street parking spaces is presently under construction with building permit No. 356208.

For your information, the Building Department cannot determine whether this project contains any legal nonconforming uses or structures as a result of the adoption or amendment of any ordinances or codes.

No variances or special permits were granted to allow deviations from any applicable codes.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, please contact Mr. Ivan Matsumoto of this office at 527-6341.

Very truly yours,

Subject: Visual Inspection Report
45-404 Kamehameha Highway (Unit 2)

Gentlemen,

The following is a brief summary of my visual observations conducted during a site inspection on 5/24/95 at the above referenced residence.

Subject structure description:
Approx. 1,110 square foot, 1-story, 3 bedroom, 3 full bathroom, raised floor, wood construction, single family dwelling.

Visual observation:
Overall, the present condition of this 40 year old building is very good considering it's age. This is largely due to major renovation work undertaken recently. All structural members appear to be in good condition as well as all electrical and mechanical systems. Although no representation of the expected useful life of the above items is being made, there is no evidence that any repair or upgrades are currently necessary.

Currently, the house has a sheetmetal shingle roof. Although no leaks are apparent, I observed some missing and/or loose shingles which do require replacement or repair.

Sincerely,

Steven Kam

DISCLOSURE ABSTRACT

1. a. PROJECT: 45-404 KAMEHAMEHA HIGHWAY
45-402 and 45-404 Kamehameha Highway
Kaneohe, HI 96744

b. DEVELOPER: Lokahi Consultants, Inc.
625A 11th Avenue
Honolulu, HI 96816

c. MANAGING AGENT: None. Project will be self-managed.

2. Estimated Maintenance Fee Assessments and Disbursements

Maintenance Fees: The routine maintenance and repair of each apartment unit, including all utility charges, is the sole responsibility of each owner. All the common elements of the project are limited common elements appurtenant to either Unit 1 or Unit 2. As such each apartment will responsible for the repair and maintenance of the limited common element appurtenant to the respective apartment. There is no annual maintenance fee and thus no monthly estimate for upkeep of the common elements of the project.

Individual Insurance: Section 514A-86, Hawaii Revised Statutes, requires that fire insurance be purchased to cover the Project's improvements. It is contemplated that the Association will elect to permit each apartment owner to purchase and maintain his own homeowner's insurance policy which will include fire and liability coverage, and name the Association as an additional insured. In such case, the premiums on said policies will be the individual responsibility of each apartment owner rather than a common expense of the Association. Purchasers should be aware that the premiums for said fire insurance will vary depending upon the insurance company and the coverage. If it is necessary for the Association to have its own public liability coverage (which could occur), this will become a common expense of the Association shared by the apartment owners.

3. Description of All Warranties Covering the Apartments.

The Contractor is making a one year warranty from the date of completion on the materials and workmanship of Unit 2.

Purchasers are advised that Unit 1 is an existing structure constructed in 1955. Said unit is subject to "wear and tear" commensurate with its age and is sold "as-is". NO WARRANTIES FOR FITNESS OF USE OR MERCHANTABILITY OR ANY OTHER KIND ARE MADE AS TO ANY OF THE APARTMENTS. PURCHASERS ARE ADVISED TO CONDUCT THEIR OWN INSPECTION OF THE APARTMENT THEY DESIRE TO BUY. EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED FOR UNIT 2, THE APARTMENTS ARE BEING SOLD "AS IS".

4. Use of Apartments. The 45-404 KAMEHAMEHA HIGHWAY condominium project will consist of two (2) apartments which will be used for residential purposes by the owners, their tenants, servants, guests and invitees and for no other purpose.
