1. As provided in the Final Public Report and Declaration of Condominium Proper Regime, Section XXVIII, the subdivision of the real property of which this project was a part has been completed, changing the legal description of the land. Small adjustments in the area of the project and/or limited common elements have occurred in some projects. Changes, if any, are set forth in Exhibits "C" and "E" to this report. Also, see the Amended Condominium Map, Exhibit "A" to this Supplementary Public Report.
2. Project easements have been added or designated. See Article VII in the Second Amendment to the Declaration of Condominium Property Regime and Amended and Restated Second Amendment to the Declaration of Condominium Property Regime, plus Exhibit "E".
3. The original subdivision covenants (Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions) for this and all other West Waiakalua project were recorded, then an amendment was recorded allowing a smaller building setback where two adjoining owners agree to do so. The covenants, as amended, were then restated to clarify the impact of collection of subdivision expenses from individual units and the costs related to a county-required water company on Lots 23-30. Finally, the First Amendment to the Restated Declaration, concerning inadvertent omissions on setbacks was filed on August 8, 2000. See Exhibit "F" (Item #9). Each unit in this Project will belong to the water company. The professional estimate of the cost of operating the water company is less than $.50 per 1,000 gallons of water, but actual costs have not been determined. The water company has been formed.
4. Each Unit in the Project will be conveyed with a non-exclusive easement over the subdivision roadway, which will apply be effective until the road is dedicated as a public roadway for all units and the general public.
5. A right of entry for installation of utilities has been granted for the benefit of West Waiakalua Properties, LLC, the County of Kauai, the Board of Water Supply of the County of Kauai, Citizens Utilities Company and GTE Hawaiian Telephone Company Incorporated, the West Waiakalua Water Company and the owners of Lots 18 through 33 by the Declaration of Grant and Reservation of Easements for the West Waiakalua Subdivision dated June 23, 2000, recorded as Document No. 2000-089075. An Agreement to Incorporate Agricultural Restrictions Into Instruments of Conveyance, dated June 23, 2000, was later recorded as Document No. 2000-107418. Both documents are on file with the Commission and a copy of either or both will be provided to interested purchasers.

General Information On Condominiums

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of the Condominium Property Act, Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must be complied with. In addition, certain requirements and approvals of the County in which the project is located must be satisfied and obtained.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owners/tenants) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements at the lessee's expense. Leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

"Common elements" are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called "limited common elements" and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged or encumbered, and may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the project's Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without the vote of the owners. For example, the board may hire and fire employees, increase or decrease maintenance fees, borrow money for repair and improvements and set a budget. Some of these actions may significantly impact the apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is important to all apartment owners that the transition of control from the developer to the apartment owners be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON LEASEHOLD CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

The information contained in this report is a summary of the terms of the lease. For more detailed information, you should secure a copy of the lease documents and read them thoroughly.

If you have any legal questions about leasehold property, the lease documents or the terms of the lease and the consequences of becoming a lessee, you should seek the advice of an attorney.

There are currently no statutory provisions for the mandatory conversion of leasehold condominiums and there are no assurances that such measures will be enacted in the future.

In leasehold condominium projects, the buyer of an apartment will acquire the right to occupy and use the apartment for the time stated in the lease agreement. The buyer will not acquire outright or absolute fee simple ownership of the land. The land is owned by the lessor or the leased fee owner. The apartment owner or lessee must make lease rent payments and comply with the terms of the lease or be subject to the lessor's enforcement actions. The lease rent payments are usually fixed at specific amounts for fixed periods of time, and are then subject to renegotiation. Renegotiation may be based on a formula, by arbitration set in the lease agreement, by law or by agreement between the lessor and lessee. The renegotiated lease rents may increase significantly. At the end of the lease, the apartment owners may have to surrender the apartments, the improvements and the land back to the lessor without any compensation (surrender clause).

When leasehold property is sold, title is normally conveyed by means of an assignment of lease, the purpose of which is similar to that of a deed. The legal and practical effect is different because the assignment conveys only the rights and obligations created by the lease, not the property itself.

The developer of this condominium project may have entered into a master ground lease with the fee simple owner of the land in order to develop the project. The developer may have then entered into a sublease or a new lease of the land with the lessee (apartment owner). The developer may lease the improvements to the apartment owner by way of an apartment lease or sublease, or sell the improvements to the apartment owners by way of a condominium conveyance or apartment deed.

Although the common elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners, those portions of the common elements which are designated as limited common elements (see paragraph 2 below) may be used only by those apartments to which they are assigned. Blanket Liens:

A blanket lien is an encumbrance (such as a mortgage) on the entire condominium project that secures some type of monetary debt (such as a loan) or other obligation. A blanket lien is usually released on an apartment-by-apartment basis upon payment of specified sums so that individual apartments can be conveyed to buyers free and clear of the lien.

There are no blanket liens affecting title to the individual apartments.

There are blanket liens which may affect title to the individual apartments.

Blanket liens (except for improvement district or utility assessments) must be released before the developer conveys the apartment to a buyer. The buyer's interest will be affected if the developer defaults and the lien is foreclosed prior to conveying the apartment to buyer.

C. Additional Information Not Covered Above

This is a condominium project, not a subdivision. Units purchased are not subdivided lots. To determine whether your expectations can be realized, you should carefully review the contents of this Report, especially Exhibit I, a summary of the recorded restrictive covenants for the subdivision within which this project is located. Among other things, the restrictive covenants govern land use, building type and materials, possession of animals, and cultivation of crops. You should also conduct your own investigations and ascertain the validity of information herein.

Except where residential use is prohibited by the Declaration, it is anticipated that the initial improvements on each unit will be replaced by or supplemented with a farm dwelling. The purchaser shall also, in such event, file the "as-built" certificate within thirty days of completion of the farm dwelling in conformance with Section 514A-12, Hawaii Revised Statutes, and record an amendment of the Declaration of Condominium Property Regime ("Declaration") to describe the farm dwelling. The County of Kauai Planning Department requires, in order to process the necessary permits for the construction of a farm dwelling and the processing of a farm dwelling agreement, authorization from at least 75% of the legal and equitable ownership of the entire project, consistent with the Declaration and the Bylaws ("condominium documents"). In most cases a farm dwelling may not be constructed unless a unit owner demonstrates to the County his ability to derive income from his property, established and verified prior to any building permit approval. Except as limited specifically by the condominium documents and subdivision restrictive covenants, all uses permitted in the agricultural and open zones (as applicable) are permitted. Uses in one zone are not the same as in the other, and the prospective purchaser should consult the appropriate county agency for information on uses and construction in the respective zones and Units in the Project.

A buyer should understand that all development and use of the property shall be in compliance with County codes and ordinances, that owners in this condominium project will not necessarily receive the same County benefits as owners of approved subdivided lots and that owners who develop their limited common element later than others may find that land use and zoning changes or insufficient utility capacities may thwart their expectations.

Construction of the shade structures has not commenced. The Developer has provided an irrevocable stand-by letter of credit from Bank of Hawaii in favor of the State of Hawaii to guarantee completion of the most structures prior to expiration of the stand-by letter. Presently, there is no County-supplied, public or private water system serving this project. Until there is a water system, those desiring to construct improvements which utilize water will be required to use a catchment system.

The subdivision contemplated in the Final Public Report is complete, and residential construction and guest house rights have been established. Actual construction of residential units will await completion of the water improvements.

Potential purchasers are advised that domestic water service from County of Kauai water sources will not be available to this project until the required construction water delivery improvements for the West Waiakalua Subdivision is completed and accepted by the Board of Water Supply of the County of Kauai and/or the Department of Water of the County of Kauai.

Further, due to the high elevations within this property, a dependable supply of water cannot be assured. Affected property owners will be required to sign an elevation agreement with the Department of Water upon application for water service, agreeing to accept such water service as the Department of Water is able to render and agreeing to install and maintain suitable booster pumps and storage tanks, if necessary. The Department of Water will not allow any water meter to be located higher than an elevation of 400 feet above mean sea level at the boundary line of any lot in the West Waiakalua Subdivision.

D. The developer hereby certifies that all the information contained in this Report and the Exhibits attached to this Report and all documents to be furnished by the developer to buyers concerning the project have been reviewed by the developer and are, to the best of the developer's knowledge, information and belief, true, correct and complete.

SUMMARY OF AMENDED AND RESTATED COVENANTS, CONDITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS FOR THE WEST WAIAKALUA SUBDIVISION

This is a summary of the Amended and Restated Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions ("House Rules") for the condominium Project, as amended by document dated August 7, 2000. This is not meant to completely recite the actual provisions of the House Rules, nor to cover every issue in which a purchaser might have interest. The prospective purchaser is urged to obtain a full copy of the House Rules from the condominium Developer prior to entering into an agreement to purchase a unit in this Project.

Building Permits. Any owner desiring to construct improvements on a unit will have to comply with County of Kauai building and zoning codes, plus subdivision Design Guidelines and building design approval procedures.

Construction/Design Review. There are specific limitations on materials, siting and many other considerations in erecting structures on the Project within the West Waiakalua Subdivision.

Water and Utilities. Each unit owner will be required to connect water, electricity and telephone to his/her improvements at his/her own cost and expense. There are water restrictions on certain lots, and limited water resources. At issuance of the public reports for the Project, water service is not available. A water company is required for most of the lots in the Subdivision.

Farming. Units in the Project must engage in agricultural activity as a condition precedent to the ability to build or occupy a "Farm Dwelling."

Construction. There are various types of materials and designs that are prohibited within the West Waiakalua subdivision which control over any Project documents of record. Actions that cause erosion or alteration of water flow are prohibited. Setbacks are established in relation to side, front and rear boundaries of all subdivided lots, including the lot(s) constituting this Project. Minimum size of residential construction is regulated. Signs are restricted.

Pets and Farm Animals/Noise in General. There are restrictions on types and numbers of animals as well as the levels of noise, odor and dust permissible within the Project and the West Waiakalua Subdivision.

Common Area Land. The Association shall determine and control the common area land, if any.

Noxious Activities. There are restrictions regarding the spraying of chemicals and pesticides.

Repeal or Modification. The Covenants and Design Committee Rules and House Rules may be modified by an affirmative vote of the owners of 75% of the lots of the subdivision.
