General Information On Condominiums

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of the Condominium Property Act, Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must be complied with. In addition, certain requirements and approvals of the County in which the project is located must be satisfied and obtained.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owners/tenants) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements at the lessee's expense. Leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term. the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment: and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

"Common elements" are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations. columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects. some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called "limited common elements"' and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged or encumbered, and may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the projects Declaration, Bylaws. and House Rules These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without the vote of the owners. For example, the board may hire and fire employees, increase or decrease maintenance fees, borrow money for repair and improvements and set a budget. Some of these actions may significantly impact the apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequency necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws Prospective buyers should understand that it is important to all apartment owners that the transition of control from the developer to the apartment owners be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

II. CREATION OF THE CONDOMINIUM; CONDOMINIUM DOCUMENTS

A condominium is created by recording in the Bureau of Conveyances and/or filing with the Land Court a Declaration of Condominium Property Regime, a Condominium Map (File Plan), and the Bylaws of the Association of Apartment Owners. The Condominium Property Act (Chapter 514A, HRS), the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules control the rights and obligations of the apartment owners with respect to the project and the common elements, to each other, and to their respective apartments. The provisions of these documents are intended to be, and in most cases are, enforceable in a court of law.

A. Declaration of Condominium Property Regime contains a description of the land, buildings, apartments, common elements, limited common elements, common interests and other information relating to the condominium project.

The Declaration for this condominium is:

The Bylaws for this condominium are:

[ ] Proposed

[ ] Recorded - Bureau of Conveyances: Document No. 99-057348
Book _____ Page _____

[ ] Filed - Land Court: Document No. _____

The Bylaws referred to above have been amended by the following instruments [state name of document, date and recording/filing information]:

D. House Rules. The Board of Directors may adopt House Rules to govern the use and operation of the common elements and limited common elements. House Rules may cover matters such as parking regulations, hours of operation for common facilities such as recreation areas, use of lanais and requirements for keeping pets. These rules must be followed by owners, tenants, and guests. They do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective. The initial House Rules are usually adopted by the developer.

The House Rules for this condominium are:

[ ] Proposed [X] Adopted [ ] Developer does not plan to adopt House Rules

E. Changes to Condominium Documents:

Changes to the Declaration, Condominium Map, and Bylaws are effective only if they are duly adopted and recorded and/or filed. Changes to House Rules do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON LEASEHOLD CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

The information contained in this report is a summary of the terms of the lease. For more detailed information, you should secure a copy of the lease documents and read them thoroughly.

If you have any legal questions about leasehold property, the lease documents or the terms of the lease and the consequences of becoming a lessee, you should seek the advice of an attorney

There are currently no statutory provisions for the mandatory conversion of leasehold condominiums and there are no assurances that such measures will be enacted in the future.

In leasehold condominium projects. the buyer of an apartment will acquire the right to occupy and use the apartment for the time stated in the lease agreement. The buyer will not acquire outright or absolute fee simple ownership of the land. The land is owned by the lessor or the leased fee owner. The apartment owner or lessee must make lease rent payments and comply with the terms of the lease or be subject to the lessor's enforcement actions. The lease rent payments are usually fixed at specific amounts for fixed periods of time. and are then subject to renegotiation. Renegotiation may be based on a formula, by arbitration set in the lease agreement by law or by agreement between the lessor and lessee.
The renegotiated lease rents may increase significantly. At the end of the lease. the apartment owners may have to surrender the apartments, the improvements and the land back to the lessor without any compensation (surrender clause).

When leasehold property is sold, title is normally conveyed by means of an assignment of lease, the purpose of which is similar to that of a deed. The legal and practical effect is different because the assignment conveys only the rights and obligations created by the lease. not the property itself.

The developer of this condominium project may have entered into a master ground lease with the fee simple owner of the land in order to develop the project. The developer may have then entered into a sublease or a new lease of the land with the lessee (apartment owner). The developer may lease the improvements to the apartment owner by way of an apartment lease or sublease, or sell the improvements to the apartment owners by way of a condominium conveyance or apartment deed.

The buyer may not be able to obtain financing or insurance if the condominium project has a non-conforming or illegal use, structure or lot.

D. Common Elements, Limited Common Elements, Common Interest:

1. Common Elements: Common Elements are those parts of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. Although the common elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners, those portions of the common elements which are designated as limited common elements (see paragraph 2 below) may be used only by those apartments to which they are assigned. The common elements for this project, as described in the Declaration are:

[X] described in Exhibit C

[ ] as follows:

2. Limited Common Elements: Limited Common Elements are those common elements which are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments.

[ ] There are no limited common elements in this project:

[X] The limited common elements and the apartments which use them, as described in the Declaration, are:

[X] described in Exhibit C.

[ ] as follows:

3. Common Interest: Each apartment will have an undivided fractional interest in all of the common elements. This interest is called the "common interest." It is used to determine each apartment's share of the maintenance fees and other common profits and expenses of the condominium project. It may also be used for other purposes, including voting on matters requiring action by apartment owners. The common interests for the apartments in this project, as described in the Declaration are:

[ ] described in Exhibit _____

[X] as follows:

Apartment "A" : Fifty Percent (50%)
Apartment "B" : Fifty Percent (50%)

and issued by OLD REPUBLIC TITLE AND ESCROW OF HAWAII

Blanket Liens:

A blanket lien is an encumbrance (such as a mortgage) on the entire condominium project that secures some type of monetary debt (such as a loan) or other obligation. A blanket lien is usually released on an apartment-by-apartment basis upon payment of specified sums so that individual apartments can be conveyed to buyers free and clear of the lien.

[ ] There are no blanket liens affecting title to the individual apartments.

[X] There are blanket liens which may affect title to the individual apartments.

Blanket liens (except for improvement district or utility assessments) must be released before the developer conveys the apartment to a buyer. The buyer's interest will be affected if the developer defaults and the lien is foreclosed prior to conveying the apartment to buyer.

Type of Lien	Effect on Buyer's Interest and Deposit if Developer Defaults or Lien is Foreclosed Prior to Conversion
First Mortgage	If Developer defaults or the mortgage lien is foreclosed prior to conveyance to Buyer, Buyer's contract to purchase will be terminated and all of Buyer's funds will be refunded to Buyer, less escrow cancellation fees. However, should Buyer's deposit be used by the Developer prior to a foreclosure of the mortgage and prior to conveyance to Buyer, Buyer may not be able to recover the deposited moneys

F. Construction Warranties:

Warranties for individual apartments and the common elements, including the beginning and ending dates for each warranty, are as follows:

1. Building and Other Improvements:

The Owner/Developer makes no warranties itself and the Owner/Developer is not aware of any warranties from any general contractor, subcontractor or materials supplier that are in existence. The Owner/Developer will assign to the purchasers apartments such warranties as may exist, if any, and the Owner/Developer will cooperate with each apartment owner during the effective period of any warranty, if any, in asserting any claims.

2. Appliances:

DESCRIPTION OF COMMON ELEMENTS
AND LIMITED COMMON ELEMENTS

All of the property is Fee Simple.

In the various documents relating to this project, the term "Common Element" means the same thing as the term "Common Area", and the term "Limited Common Element" means the same thing as "Limited Common Area".

Common Elements are those portions of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. Common Elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners. The owners of each apartment own an undivided one-half (1/2) interest (undivided 50% interest) in all of the Common Elements for all purposes, including voting. This means that the ownership does not depend on the size of an apartment or the use to which an apartment is put. The Common Elements include the land upon which the project is located, in fee simple, and all other portions of the project, other than the Apartments, including, specifically, but not limited to, the Common Elements mentioned in the Act that are actually constructed on the land, and all other portions of the Project necessary or convenient to its existence, maintenance and safety or normally in common use and which are not included as part of an apartment, including but not limited to following:

(a) The land in fee simple;

(b) All ducts, electrical equipment, wiring, pipes and other central and appurtenant transmission facilities and installations over, under and across the project, if any, which serve more than one (1) apartment for services such as power, light, water, gas, sewer, telephone and radio and television signal distribution, if any.

(c) The roof and all load bearing perimeter walls that serve more than one apartment, if any;

(d) Any and all other elements and facilities rationally in common use or necessary to the existence, upkeep and safety of the Project.

(e) The common elements shall remain undivided, and no right shall exist to partition or divide any part thereof, except as provided in the Condominium Property Act.

(f) Any such partition or division shall be subject to the prior consent thereto by the holder(s) of all mortgage(s) of any condominium Apartment(s) which are filed of record.

(g) All the rights, benefits and privileges, if any, inuring to the land or to the Condominium from all easements shown on the File Plan or listed in Exhibit "A", or acquired subsequent to the creation of those documents.

(h) Any and all other portions of the land and improvements that are not specifically designated for use by one or more specific Apartments, but which are intended for common use, including any directory facilities that may be established, and all other apparatus and installations the use of which exists for, is rationally allocated to or is necessary to the existence, upkeep and safety of more than one Apartment of the Condominium Project or which may otherwise be of common use.

(i) "Common Area Driveway" as shown on the Condominium Plan. It serves as a driveway for both apartments.

Unless clearly repugnant to the context thereof, the term "Common Elements" also means and includes the limited common elements hereinafter described.

Limited Common Elements are those portions of the Common Elements which are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. They are often referred to as Limited Common Area.

Limited Common Elements for Apartment "A". The Limited Common Elements for Apartment A are the approximately 13, 104 square feet of land appurtenant to Apartment "A". The land appurtenant to Apartment "A" is indicated by a dashed line on the Condominium File Plan. The dashed line, metes and bounds, courses and distances, and statement of a land area on Condominium File Plan do not indicate that the land has been subdivided. They only define the Limited Common Area for Apartment "A".

Limited Common Elements for Apartment "B". The Limited Common Elements for Apartment "B" are the approximately 57, 566 square feet appurtenant to Apartment "B". The dashed line, metes and bounds, courses and distances, and statement of a land area on the Condominium File Plan do not indicate that the land has been subdivided. They only define the Limited Common Area for Apartment "B".

Each apartment has an equal undivided one-half (1/2) interest (undivided 50% interest) in all of the common elements for all purposes, including voting.
