General Information On Condominiums

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of the Condominium Property Act, Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must be complied with. In addition, certain requirements and approvals of the County in which the project is located must be satisfied and obtained.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owners/tenants) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements at the lessee's expense. Leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

"Common elements" are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called "limited common elements" and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged or encumbered, and may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the project's Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without the vote of the owners. For example, the board may hire and fire employees, increase or decrease maintenance fees, borrow money for repair and improvements and set a budget. Some of these actions may significantly impact the apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is important to all apartment owners that the transition of control from the developer to the apartment owners be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

II. CREATION OF THE CONDOMINIUM; CONDOMINIUM DOCUMENTS

A condominium is created by recording in the Bureau of Conveyances and/or filing with the Land Court a Declaration of Condominium Property Regime, a Condominium Map (File Plan), and the Bylaws of the Association of Apartment Owners. The Condominium Property Act (Chapter 514A, HRS), the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules control the rights and obligations of the apartment owners with respect to the project and the common elements, to each other, and to their respective apartments. The provisions of these documents are intended to be, and in most cases are, enforceable in a court of law.

A. Declaration of Condominium Property Regime contains a description of the land, buildings, apartments, common elements, limited common elements, common interests, and other information relating to the condominium project.

The Declaration for this condominium is:

Proposed
 Recorded - Bureau of Conveyances: Document No. 2003-166824
Book _____ Page _____
 Filed - Land Court: Document No. _____

The Declaration referred to above has been amended by the following instruments [state name of document, date and recording/filing information]:

They provide for the manner in which the Board of Directors of the Association of Apartment Owners is elected, the powers and duties of the Board, the manner in which meetings will be conducted, whether pets are prohibited or allowed and other matters which affect how the condominium project will be governed.

The Bylaws for this condominium are:

Proposed
 Recorded - Bureau of Conveyances: Document No. 2003-166825
Book _____ Page _____

The Bylaws referred to above have been amended by the following instruments [state name of document, date and recording/filing information]:

D. House Rules. The Board of Directors may adopt House Rules to govern the use and operation of the common elements and limited common elements. House Rules may cover matters such as parking regulations, hours of operation for common facilities such as recreation areas, use of lanais and requirements for keeping pets. These rules must be followed by owners, tenants, and guests. They do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective. The initial House Rules are usually adopted by the developer.

The House Rules for this condominium are:

Proposed Adopted Developer does not plan to adopt House Rules

E. Changes to Condominium Documents Changes to the Declaration, Condominium Map, and Bylaws are effective only if they are duly adopted and recorded and/or filed. Changes to House Rules do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON LEASEHOLD CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

The information contained in this report is a summary of the terms of the lease. For more detailed information, you should secure a copy of the lease documents and read them thoroughly.

If you have any legal questions about leasehold property, the lease documents or the terms of the lease and the consequences of becoming a lessee, you should seek the advice of an attorney.

There are currently no statutory provisions for the mandatory conversion of leasehold condominiums and there are no assurances that such measures will be enacted in the future.

In leasehold condominium projects, the buyer of an apartment will acquire the right to occupy and use the apartment for the time stated in the lease agreement. The buyer will not acquire outright or absolute fee simple ownership of the land. The land is owned by the lessor or the leased fee owner. The apartment owner or lessee must make lease rent payments and comply with the terms of the lease or be subject to the lessor's enforcement actions. The lease rent payments are usually fixed at specific amounts for fixed periods of time, and are then subject to renegotiation. Renegotiation may be based on a formula, by arbitration set in the lease agreement, by law or by agreement between the lessor and lessee. The renegotiated lease rents may increase significantly. At the end of the lease, the apartment owners may have to surrender the apartments, the improvements and the land back to the lessor without any compensation (surrender clause).

When leasehold property is sold, title is normally conveyed by means of an assignment of lease, the purpose of which is similar to that of a deed. The legal and practical effect is different because the assignment conveys only the rights and obligations created by the lease, not the property itself.

The developer of this condominium project may have entered into a master ground lease with the fee simple owner of the land in order to develop the project. The developer may have then entered into a sublease or a new lease of the land with the lessee (apartment owner). The developer may lease the improvements to the apartment owner by way of an apartment lease or sublease, or sell the improvements to the apartment owners by way of a condominium conveyance or apartment deed.

If a variance has been granted or if uses, improvements or lot are either non-conforming or illegal, buyer should consult with county zoning authorities as to possible limitations which may apply.

Limitations may include restrictions on extending, enlarging, or continuing the non-conformity, and restrictions on altering and repairing structures. In some cases, a non-conforming structure that is destroyed or damaged cannot be reconstructed.

The buyer may not be able to obtain financing or insurance if the condominium project has a non-conforming or illegal use, structure, or lot.

D. Common Elements, Limited Common Elements, Common Interest:

1. Common Elements: Common Elements are those parts of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. Although the common elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners, those portions of the common elements which are designated as limited common elements (see paragraph 2 below) may be used only by those apartments to which they are assigned. The common elements for this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

described in Exhibit "B".

as follows:

2. Limited Common Elements: Limited Common Elements are those common elements which are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments.

There are no limited common elements in this project.

The limited common elements and the apartments which use them, as described in the Declaration, are:

described in Exhibit "B".

as follows:

3. Common Interest: Each apartment will have an undivided fractional interest in all of the common elements. This interest is called the "common interest." It is used to determine each apartment's share of the maintenance fees and other common profits and expenses of the condominium project. It may also be used for other purposes, including voting on matters requiring action by apartment owners. The common interests for the apartments in this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

as follows:

- E. Encumbrances Against Title: An encumbrance is a claim against or a liability on the property or a document affecting the title or use of the property. Encumbrances may have an adverse effect on the property or your purchase and ownership of an apartment in the project.

Exhibit "C" describes the encumbrances against the title contained in the title report dated January 13, 2004 and issued by Title Guaranty of Hawaii, Inc.

Blanket Liens:

A blanket lien is an encumbrance (such as a mortgage) on the entire condominium project that secures some type of monetary debt (such as a loan) or other obligation. A blanket lien is usually released on an apartment-by-apartment basis upon payment of specified sums so that individual apartments can be conveyed to buyers free and clear of the lien.

[] There are no blanket liens affecting title to the individual apartments.

[X] There are blanket liens which may affect title to the individual apartments.

Blanket liens (except for improvement district or utility assessments) must be released before the developer conveys the apartment to a buyer. The buyer's interest will be affected if the developer defaults and the lien is foreclosed prior to conveying the apartment to buyer.

Type of Lien	Effect on Buyer's Interest and Deposit if Developer Defaults or Lien is Foreclosed Prior to Conveyance
1. Mortgage dated 04/26/02, recorded as Doc. No. 2002-075039	Buyer may lose right to purchase apartment, but will be entitled to a refund of deposit, less escrow cancellation fee.

The Association may be permitted, and in some cases may be required, to employ or retain a condominium managing agent to assist the Association in managing the condominium project.

Initial Condominium Managing Agent: When the developer or the developer's affiliate is the initial condominium managing agent, the management contract must have a term of one year or less and the parties must be able to terminate the contract on notice of 60 days or less.

Apartment B is comprised of all of Building 2 and all other improvements physically located on the land area appurtenant to Apartment B (except such improvements which are designated as common elements, if any). The apartments are described as follows:

(2.01) Apartment A's enclosed living area contains eleven rooms: a living room, a kitchen, a dining room, a sun room, an office, a den, a sewing room, a studio room, two bathrooms and one bedroom. The enclosed living area totals approximately 2,864 square feet. Also part of Apartment B is an open lanai of approximately 186.87 square feet and a two car carport of approximately 400 square feet. (2.02) Apartment B's enclosed living area contains five rooms: a living/sleeping room, a kitchen/dining room, a sunroom, one bathroom, and a loft. The enclosed living area totals approximately 656.36 square feet. Also part of Apartment A is an open porch of approximately 123 square feet. In addition, the apartment consists of any and all other existing improvements and future improvements which may be constructed by the owner of the apartment on the land area appurtenant to the apartment as permitted in this Declaration.

(2.03) The owner of each apartment is entitled, if permitted by law, to construct any building or structure on the land area appurtenant to the apartment, provided that the building or structure meets with all applicable building, electrical, plumbing and housing codes and all applicable land use and zoning laws and ordinances in effect at the time of construction; and provided further that the minimum distance between any wall of the building or structure and the boundary of the land area appurtenant to the apartment shall be minimum distance between main buildings on the same building site as required under the County of Hawaii zoning code at the time of construction. All costs and expenses of any such future construction shall be borne by the owner of the apartment.

(2.04) The common element to which each apartment has immediate access is the land area appurtenant to each apartment, which is a limited common element,

(2.05) Each apartment shall be deemed to include all ducts, electrical equipment, wiring, pipes and other appurtenant transmission facilities (the "utility facilities") for services such as power, light, water, gas, wastewater disposal, telephone and radio and television signal distribution located within the apartment.

3. Alteration of Apartments. Each apartment owner shall have the right, at such owner's sole discretion and without the consent or permission of any other apartment owner or the Association, to renovate, remodel, make additions to, enlarge, remove, replace or restore such owner's apartment or any portion thereof, and to make improvements upon the land area appurtenant to the apartment (collectively "alterations"), provided that all alterations shall be at the expense of the apartment owner and shall be performed in accordance with all applicable building, electrical, plumbing and housing codes and all applicable land use and zoning laws and ordinances. Any apartment owner making an alteration pursuant to Paragraph 17 of the Declaration shall have the right, without the consent or permission of any other apartment owner or the Association, to amend the Declaration and the Condominium Map to reflect the alteration. Every apartment owner and their mortgagees, by acquiring an interest in an apartment, shall be deemed to have granted an irrevocable power of attorney to any apartment owner who makes an alteration pursuant to Paragraph 17 of the Declaration solely for the purpose of executing and recording an amendment to this Declaration and the Condominium Map describing the alteration.

Estimate of Initial Maintenance Fees and Disbursements

The regular maintenance and repair of each apartment and the limited common elements appurtenant to each apartment is the sole responsibility of each respective apartment owner. There are no common elements which will require maintenance and repair by the Association, except such parts or portions of the utility facilities which serve more than one apartment (if any). The utility facilities which serve more than one apartment (if any) are not expected to require maintenance or repair on a regular basis. The payment of all utility services for each apartment is the sole responsibility of each respective apartment owner. As a result, Developer anticipates that there will be no annual assessments for maintenance fees. Instead, assessments for maintenance and repair will be made as needed.

Section 514A-86, HRS, requires fire insurance to be purchased by the Association to cover the improvements of the Project. Developer anticipates that the Association will elect, pursuant to paragraph 14.04 of the Declaration, to permit individual apartment owners to obtain separate policies for their respective apartments, the premiums for which will be the sole responsibility of and be paid by each respective apartment owner.

The Developer has not conducted a reserve study in accordance with HRS §514A-83.6, and replacement rules, Subchapter 6, Title 16, Chapter 107, Hawaii Administrative Rules, as amended.

I, BARBARA B. WHITE, Trustee, Developer, hereby certify that the above estimate of initial maintenance fees and disbursements are true and accurate to the best of my knowledge.

(3) The owner of each apartment upon acquiring title thereto automatically shall become a member of the Association and shall remain a member thereof until such time as such person's ownership of such apartment ceases for any reason, at which time such person's membership in the Association automatically shall cease; provided, however, that if and to the extent a lease of any apartment registered under Chapter 501 or recorded under Chapter 502 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes (filed in the Office of the Assistant Registrar of the Land Court of the State of Hawaii or recorded in the Bureau of Conveyances of the State of Hawaii) so provides, the lessee of such apartment shall be deemed to be the owner thereof.

(b) Provided that an apartment owner has agreed in writing to allow a tenant to keep a pet in the owner's apartment, a tenant may keep a pet or pets of the same type which may be kept by apartment owners.

(8) Nothing shall be allowed, done or kept in any apartments or common elements of the project which would cause any increase in the ordinary premium rates or the cancellation or invalidation of any insurance thereon maintained by or for the Association.
