Summary of Changes from Earlier Public Reports:

This summary contains a general description of the changes, if any, made by the developer since the last public report was issued. It is not necessarily all inclusive. Prospective buyers should compare this public report with the earlier reports if they wish to know the specific changes that have been made.

- No prior reports have been issued by the developer.
- Changes made are as follows:

SPECIAL NOTICE:

THIS IS A CONDOMINIUM PROJECT, NOT A SUBDIVISION. There are County restrictions on the number of dwelling units, or other structures, which may be built upon the property. Therefore, unless the purchaser is purchasing an existing dwelling, there is no assurance that the purchaser will be able to build a dwelling unit on the property. There also is no assurance that the purchaser will be able to convert an existing non-residential structure to residential use. The purchaser should consult with the appropriate County agencies to determine whether the purchaser may build a dwelling unit, or any other type of structure.

1. There is presently one residential structure and one shed on the project.
2. Issuance of an effective date for this Public Report does not constitute an approval of the project by the Real Estate Commission, or any other governmental agency, nor does it imply that all County codes, ordinances and subdivision requirements have been complied with.
3. This project does not involve the sale of individual subdivided lots. The land area beneath and immediately adjacent to each unit, as shown on the Condominium Map, is designated as a limited common element for that unit and does not represent a legally subdivided lot. The dotted or dash lines on the Condominium Map generally represent the location of the limited common element or easements assigned to each unit.
4. Facilities and improvements normally associated with County approved subdivisions, such as fire protection devices, County street lighting, electricity, upgraded water facilities, improved access for owner and emergency traffic, drainage facilities, etc., may not necessarily be provided for and services such as County street maintenance and trash collection will not be available for interior roads and driveways.

THIS PROSPECTIVE PURCHASER IS CAUTIONED TO CAREFULLY REVIEW THE CONDOMINIUM DOCUMENTS REFERENCED IN THIS PUBLIC REPORT FOR FURTHER INFORMATION WITH REGARD TO THE FOREGOING.

General Information On Condominiums

A condominium is a special form of real property. To create a condominium in Hawaii, the requirements of the Condominium Property Act, Chapter 514A, Hawaii Revised Statutes, must be complied with. In addition, certain requirements and approvals of the County in which the project is located must be satisfied and obtained.

Some condominium projects are leasehold. This means that the land or the building(s) and other improvements are leased to the buyer. The lease for the land usually requires that at the end of the lease term, the lessees (apartment owners/tenants) deliver their interest in the land to the lessor (fee property owner). The lease also usually requires that the lessees either (1) convey to the lessor the building(s) and other improvements, including any improvements paid for by the lessees; or (2) remove or dispose of the improvements at the lessee's expense. Leases for individual apartments often require that at the end of the lease term, the lessee deliver to the lessor the apartment, including any improvements placed in the apartment by the lessee.

If you are a typical condominium apartment owner, you will have two kinds of ownership: (1) ownership in your individual apartment; and (2) an undivided interest in the common elements.

"Common Elements" are the areas of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. They are owned jointly by all apartment owners and include the land, either in fee simple or leasehold, and those parts of the building or buildings intended for common use such as foundations, columns, roofs, halls, elevators, and the like. Your undivided interest in the common elements cannot be separated from ownership of your apartment.

In some condominium projects, some common elements are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments. These common elements are called "limited common elements" and may include parking stalls, patios, lanais, trash chutes, and the like.

You will be entitled to exclusive ownership and possession of your apartment. Condominium apartments may be individually bought, sold, rented, mortgaged or encumbered, and may be disposed of by will, gift, or operation of law.

Your apartment will, however, be part of the group of apartments that comprise the condominium project. Study the project's Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules. These documents contain important information on the use and occupancy of apartments and the common elements as well as the rules of conduct for owners, tenants, and guests.

Operation of the Condominium Project

The Association of Apartment Owners is the entity through which apartment owners may take action with regard to the administration, management, and operation of the condominium project. Each apartment owner is automatically a member of the Association.

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the Association. Unless you serve as a board member or an officer, or are on a committee appointed by the board, your participation in the administration and operation of the condominium project will in most cases be limited to your right to vote as an apartment owner. The Board of Directors and officers can take certain actions without the vote of the owners. For example, the board may hire and fire employees, increase or decrease maintenance fees, borrow money for repair and improvements and set a budget. Some of these actions may significantly impact the apartment owners.

Until there is a sufficient number of purchasers of apartments to elect a majority of the Board of Directors, it is likely that the developer will effectively control the affairs of the Association. It is frequently necessary for the developer to do so during the early stages of development and the developer may reserve certain special rights to do so in the Declaration and Bylaws. Prospective buyers should understand that it is important to all apartment owners that the transition of control from the developer to the apartment owners be accomplished in an orderly manner and in a spirit of cooperation.

II. CREATION OF THE CONDOMINIUM; CONDOMINIUM DOCUMENTS

A condominium is created by recording in the Bureau of Conveyances and/or filing with the Land Court a Declaration of Condominium Property Regime, a Condominium Map (File Plan), and the Bylaws of the Association of Apartment Owners. The Condominium Property Act (Chapter 514A, HRS), the Declaration, Bylaws, and House Rules control the rights and obligations of the apartment owners with respect to the project and the common elements, to each other, and to their respective apartments. The provisions of these documents are intended to be, and in most cases are, enforceable in a court of law.

These rules must be followed by owners, tenants, and guests. They do not need to be recorded or filed to be effective. The initial House Rules are usually adopted by the developer.

The House Rules for this condominium are:

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON LEASEHOLD CONDOMINIUM PROJECTS

The information contained in this report is a summary of the terms of the lease. For more detailed information, you should secure a copy of the lease documents and read them thoroughly.

If you have any legal questions about leasehold property, the lease documents or the terms of the lease and the consequences of becoming a lessee, you should seek the advice of an attorney.

There are currently no statutory provisions for the mandatory conversion of leasehold condominiums and there are no assurances that such measures will be enacted in the future.

In leasehold condominium projects, the buyer of an apartment will acquire the right to occupy and use the apartment for the time stated in the lease agreement. The buyer will not acquire outright or absolute fee simple ownership of the land. The land is owned by the lessor or the leased fee owner. The apartment owner or lessee must make lease rent payments and comply with the terms of the lease or be subject to the lessor's enforcement actions. The lease rent payments are usually fixed at specific amounts for fixed periods of time, and are then subject to renegotiation. Renegotiation may be based on a formula, by arbitration set in the lease agreement, by law or by agreement between the lessor and lessee. The renegotiated lease rents may increase significantly. At the end of the lease, the apartment owners may have to surrender the apartments, the improvements and the land back to the lessor without any compensation (surrender clause).

When leasehold property is sold, title is normally conveyed by means of an assignment of lease, the purpose of which is similar to that of a deed. The legal and practical effect is different because the assignment conveys only the rights and obligations created by the lease, not the property itself.

The developer of this condominium project may have entered into a master ground lease with the fee simple owner of the land in order to develop the project. The developer may have then entered into a sublease or a new lease of the land with the lessee (apartment owner). The developer may lease the improvements to the apartment owner by way of an apartment lease or sublease, or sell the improvements to the apartment owners by way of a condominium conveyance or apartment deed.

	Conforming	Non-Conforming	Illegal
Uses	_____X_____	_____	_____
Structures	_____X_____	_____	_____
Lot	_____X_____	_____	_____

If a variance has been granted or if uses, improvements or lot are either non-conforming or illegal, buyer should consult with county zoning authorities as to possible limitations which may apply.

Limitations may include restrictions on extending, enlarging, or continuing the non-conformity, and restrictions on altering and repairing structures. In some cases, a non-conforming structure that is destroyed or damaged cannot be reconstructed.

The buyer may not be able to obtain financing or insurance if the condominium project has a non-conforming or illegal use, structure, or lot.

D. Common Elements, Limited Common Elements, Common Interests:

1. Common Elements. Common Elements are those parts of the condominium project other than the individual apartments. Although the common elements are owned jointly by all apartment owners, those portions of the common elements which are designated as limited common elements (see paragraph 2 below) may be used only by those apartments to which they are assigned. The common elements for this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

 described in Exhibit E .

2. Limited Common Elements: Limited Common Elements are those common elements which are reserved for the exclusive use of the owners of certain apartments.

There are no limited common elements in this project.

The limited common elements and the apartments which use them, as described in the Declaration, are:

described in Exhibit E.

as follows:

3. Common Interests: Each apartment will have an undivided fractional interest in all of the common elements. This interest is called the "common interests." It is used to determine each apartment's share of the maintenance fees and other common profits and expenses of the condominium project. It may also be used for other purposes, including voting on matters requiring action by apartment owners. The common interests for the apartments in this project, as described in the Declaration, are:

described in Exhibit C.

as follows:

E. Encumbrances Against Title: An encumbrance is a claim against or a liability on the property or a document affecting the title or use of the property. Encumbrances may have an adverse effect on the property on or your purchase and ownership of an apartment in the project.

Exhibit F describes the encumbrances against the title contained in the title report dated October 23, 2004 and issued by Title Guaranty of Hawaii, Inc.

Blanket Liens:

A blanket lien is an encumbrance (such as a mortgage) on the entire condominium project that secures some type of monetary debt (such as a loan) or other obligation. A blanket lien is usually released on an apartment-by-apartment basis upon payment of specified sums so that individual apartments can be conveyed to buyers free and clear of the lien.

There are no blanket liens affecting title to the individual apartments.

There are blanket liens which may affect title to the individual apartments.

Blanket liens (except for improvement district or utility assessments) must be released before the developer conveys the apartment to a buyer. The buyer's interest will be affected if the developer defaults and the lien is foreclosed prior to conveying the apartment to buyer.

Type of Lien	Effect on Buyer's Interest and Deposit if Developer Defaults or Lien is Foreclosed Prior to Conveyance

C. Additional Information Not Covered Above:

This is a condominium project, not a subdivision. Units purchased are not on subdivided lots. To determine whether your expectations can be realized, you should carefully review the contents of this Report, especially Exhibit "I" to this report which is a summary of the recorded restrictive covenants for the subdivision within which this project is located. Among other things, the restrictive covenants govern land use, building type and materials, possession of animals, and cultivation of crops. You should also conduct your own investigations and ascertain the validity of information provided.

A residential improvement is located on Unit 1 and a shed is located on Unit 2 of the project. These can be replaced by or remodeled as allowed by law and project documents. The prospective purchaser shall have the right to undertake such work at purchaser's expense. The purchaser shall also, in such event, file the "as-built" certificate within thirty days of completion of the residence in conformance with Section 514A-12, Hawaii Revised Statutes, and record an amendment of the Declaration of Condominium Property Regime ("Declaration") to describe the residence. The County of Kauai Planning Department, in order to process the necessary permits for the construction of any other structure, requires authorization from at least 75% of the legal and equitable ownership of the entire project, consistent with the Declaration and the Bylaws ("condominium documents").

Except as limited specifically by the condominium documents and subdivision restrictive covenants, all uses permitted in the residential zone are permitted. Uses in one zone are not the same as in the other, and the prospective purchaser should consult the appropriate county agency for information on uses and construction in the respective zones.

A buyer should understand that all development and use of the property shall be in compliance with County codes and ordinances, that owners in this condominium project will not necessarily receive the same County benefits as owners of approved subdivided lots, and that owners who develop their limited common element later than others may find that land use and zoning changes or insufficient utility capacities may thwart their expectations.

At present there is a public water system serving the individual units of this project. Those desiring to construct improvements on such units will be required to connect to County water at their own expense. Each unit is also connected to a public waste water disposal system.

Pursuant to Section II, page three of the declaration, "each unit has direct access to a common access element or easement or to public right(s)-of-way." In this case, Unit 1 and Unit 2 have access to Kaana Street (a public right of way) by way of the Common Element described on the CPR map and on page four of the Declaration.

Several Declarations encumber the project as set forth in Exhibit F of this Public Report. A prospective purchaser should review these documents. The exact affect the declarations may have on your unit, if any, should only be determined with the assistance of a qualified attorney. The following information is general in nature:

1. UNRECORDED DECLARATION OF DEVELOPMENT COVENANTS, CONDITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS – a recorded memorandum explains that the unrecorded covenants, conditions and restrictions will affect the entire subdivision.
2. AMENDMENT OF DECLARATION OF DEVELOPMENT COVENANTS, CONDITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS – the recorded document encumbers Lot C-1 of the subdivision.
3. CERTIFICATE OF DECLARATION OF CONDITIONS – the documents contains various development restrictions.

4. DECLARATION OF RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS – this documents contains restrictive covenants that, among other things, requires a fifteen foot front yard set back from the property line for all additional dwelling units. (Please see page three of the document).
5. DECLARATION – this document is the CPR House Rules that govern the project.

- D. The developer declares subject to the penalties set forth in section 514A-49(b) that this project is in compliance with all county zoning and building ordinances and codes, and all other county permitting requirements applicable to the project, pursuant to Act 251 (SLH 2000) [Section 514A-1.6] (The developer is required to make this declaration for issuance of an effective date for a final public report.)
- E. The developer hereby certifies that all the information contained in this Report and the Exhibits attached to this Report and all documents to be furnished by the developer to buyers concerning the project have been reviewed by the developer and are, to the best of the developer's knowledge, information and belief, true, correct and complete.
