SAND ISLAND STATE RECREATION AREA CLOSED FOR WATER LEAK REPAIR

HONOLULU – The Department of Land and Natural Resources (DLNR) has closed Sand Island State Recreation Area due to a leak discovered this afternoon that is affecting the pressure in the park's water system. The park and its comfort stations will be closed tomorrow while a contractor works to repair the leak. The repair work could take one to two days to complete.

At this time it is not expected that camping permits for the Admission Day holiday weekend will need to be canceled. DLNR will announce when the park is reopened for public use.
