COURSE DESCRIPTION

This training course is divided into three parts. Chapter One, you will work through an overview of both the actual digestion process and the equipment that is used in the system. This includes learning about the two stages of digestion, where and how they occur, and about the most important pieces of equipment like digesters, heat exchanger, gas lines and sludge lines. Chapter Two deals with the equipment in more detail. You will learn to identify the components of the various pieces of equipment used in this process. Also, you will learn the part each piece of equipment plays in the digestion process. Chapter Three discusses normal operating procedures and process control; all you need to know to keep the digestion system working effectively. You will have an opportunity to practice the calculations that will provide information for process control.
